MISSING GIRL IS BELIEVED KIDNAPED

Comes To Glendale On Visit To Her Sister And Then Strangely Disappears

Believed to have been the victim of a daring kidnaping plot, Mrs. Charles Windsor, Fresno, who has been visiting with her sister in Glendale for the past two weeks, was being sought today by police and sheriff's officers throughout Los Angeles county.

Mrs. Windsor, a pretty matron of 20, left Glendale last Saturday afternoon on a Pacific Electric train to do some shopping in Los Angeles, and expected to return here the same afternoon.

At 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening Miss Alice W. Walters, her sister, was called by phone at the Owl Drug store where she is employed. A strange voice informed her that Mrs. Windsor would not be home for dinner, but that she would return "later." The person at the other end of the line would not tell her, Miss Walters told detectives here today, who was speaking.

Appeals to Police
Miss Walters did not become alarmed until a few days ago, believing that her sister might have met friends in Los Angeles and stopped to visit them. With no word from Mrs. Windsor for nearly a week, however, Miss Walters last night appealed to the Glendale police to institute a search, declaring that she believed her sister must have met with foul play when she was kidnaped.

The sheriff's office today extended its search for the missing woman to outlying districts and to lonely canyon cabins where she might have been taken and held.

When she left Glendale last Saturday Mrs. Windsor wore a tan coat, black hat and a black satin dress. She weighed about 129 pounds, and has dark brown hair.

SALARY LURES FIREMEN TO L. A. FORCE

Glendale And Other Cities To Be Hit Hard By Increase In Pay

With a salary ordinance pending in Los Angeles that will increase the inequality between Glendale and Los Angeles of salaries paid to members of the fire departments, the Glendale department this summer will become a virtual "feeder" to the Los Angeles force, according to advices received today from officials of that department.

New firemen on the Glendale force receive a starting salary for six months of $125 monthly. Under the pending salary ordinance in Los Angeles, firemen will receive $170 per month for the first six months—more than is paid in Glendale to department captains.

Glendale to Lose Men
According to the Los Angeles advices, that department is already putting out feelers to members of departments in surrounding towns and cities in an effort to obtain trained men. The Glendale department is expected to suffer the greatest, however, due to the fact that this city pays its firemen lower salaries than any other, including Alhambra, South Pasadena, Whittier, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Pasadena or Bakersfield.

The local department is already undermanned, and with a starting salary of $125 monthly it is difficult to fill places vacated by men who leave either for Los Angeles or Los Angeles county.

"We like to get our new men from the departments of surrounding cities," said a representative of the Los Angeles fire department who was in Glendale today.

"They have already received at least a preliminary training, and most of them that we have secured in the past have been well-trained, efficient fire fighters."

Smaller Cities Suffer
"The Los Angeles department this year will practically 'clean out' the smaller departments in this vicinity that have not raised the salaries of their men for the next year. I understand that Glendale has made no such salary increase."

Hosemen in Glendale begin at a salary of $125 per month, and in four years they are paid $145 per month. That is the top salary for hosemen. Drivers begin at $130 and in four years get $150 per month. Under the old ordinance in Los Angeles hosemen get $150 at the end of their first year and $160 to hosemen. Captains receive $195 while in Glendale they are paid $160.

Of seventeen fire departments in California, Glendale ranks the last in salaries. Requests for salary increases made prior to adoption of the 1925-26 budget by the City Council yesterday would have put Glendale in fourteenth place, ahead of Santa Monica.

TOTAL DEAD IN FIRE BLAST MAY REACH TWENTY

Threatening Walls Hamper Search; More Than Score Are Injured

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 26.—The death total in the explosion and fire in the Gillis theatre was unknown this afternoon. Estimates vary greatly. Efforts to search for the dead in the ruins were hampered this morning by threatening walls and workmen were ordered to tear down the walls before the hunt was continued.

Two bodies were taken out from the rear of the Sanderson restaurant under the theatre ruins at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Both were believed to be bodies of men.

Workers have not yet reached the restaurant entrance under it is believed, if the number of dead is large, bodies will be found.

J. M. Holmes, manager of the Gillis theatre said this morning that 200 tickets had been sold for the midnight show just before the explosion which wrecked the theatre. Holmes declared he believed there were that many persons in the audience.

No survivors, however, have placed the audience at more than twenty.

Search for bodies began this morning in the ruins of the Gillis theatre, Kansas City's second oldest playhouse.

Twenty-seven are known to have been injured and were treated at hospitals.

F. H. Tuley, administrator of the Gillis estate, told International News this morning that there were twenty men in the basement of the Sanderson restaurant under the theatre and ten more in the basement of New York Shoe store next door when the explosion came out alive.

Fireman Killed

John Hogan, 40, a fireman, was killed when his hose cart crashed into a lamp post on the way to the fire. Hogan was the only man definitely known to be dead today.

Until 5:30 o'clock this morning it had been impossible for firemen to get into the ruins because of the heat.

The Gillis in recent years has been an all-night burlesque house. The explosion came just before the midnight show while a motion picture "Flaming Passion" was being shown. Most of the chorus girls, members of the orchestra and several employees were in Sanderson's restaurant getting lunch.

Not Many In House
C. A. Buckley, patrolman, who had just left the Gillis, said that there were not many in the house at the time, a few coming in for the midnight show early. Others estimated that there were possibly twenty or more in the house. Several of these escaped.

The explosion is believed to have come from the Robert Carey Drug store, in the building, which had closed a few minutes before the explosion.

According to H. Schraeder, who was seated on the first floor near the door, the entire building seemed to crumble after a streak of flame and debris shot up through its center. Schraeder said he saw bodies blown high as he fought his way out. He had no idea of how many were in the audience.

A box luncheon was served at noon, apricot cobbler with whipped cream and coffee being served by the assisting hostesses Mesdames Marie Connors and W. F. Rorabaugh.

During the past year, under the capable leadership of Mrs. R. W. Bolton, the group has grown from thirty-two members to seventy-four. Mrs. Bolton reviewed the last chapter of the study book "Adventures in Brotherhood." Mrs. Marie Connors sang a vocal selection and later gave two original poems. Thirty members were present for the meeting. Mrs. Elizabeth Young was chairman of the nominating committee. The next meeting will be July 16 at the home of Mrs. Mary Peebles, 721 East Maple avenue.

MERCHANTS' BANQUET IS COMPLETE SUCCESS!

CITY PREPARES TO CONTEST FOR FINES

Glendale To Oppose Move By Los Angeles County In Seeking Fines

Glendale will contest any action on the part of Los Angeles county to take Wright act and other fines collected in police court here, it was indicated today. Burbank, however, will be forced to give up Wright act fines, it was said.

This city will base its refusal to deliver nearly $2000 per month to the county treasurer on sections 1570 and 1457 of the California penal code, which provide that "fines and forfeitures collected in police and justice courts must be paid to the county treasurer, except when the fines are assessed for violation of local ordinances, or when the police department and court are maintained solely by the municipality."

Glendale, it is pointed out, operates under a charter, has its own police department, its own police court and its own ordinance that incorporates into it the provisions of the Wright act.

Burbank, on the other hand, has no charter, no police court and is a city of the sixth class. Police court is made a part of the recorder's duties.

Other cities that will be affected by the recent supreme court decision requiring the payment of all fines collected, with the exception of those assessed to violators of the California vehicle act, are the newly formed city of Tujunga, Casa Verdugo, if it votes to incorporate on August 4; Saugus, Newhall and other places.

Fines turned over by municipalities to the county treasurer cannot later be recovered, whether they are paid by mistake or otherwise, according to appellate court decisions based on section 1457 of the penal code.

Judge Lowe's Spanish Was Not So Good

Police Judge F. H. Lowe was in a reminiscent mood today, and he told this one on himself:

"About a quarter of a century ago I tried to learn Spanish. The few words and phrases I knew I tried out on every Mexican that would listen. I was rather proud of my achievement."

"One day I had to take a business trip into the Santa Ana canyon. The roads were not very well marked, and I lost the way. There were a number of Mexicans in the country, however, so I planned to use my Spanish vocabulary on some of them. Finally I spotted my victim."

"I've even forgotten those few so-called Spanish words now. Anyway, I worked out a line at the Mexican, waved my arms and otherwise disoriented myself, while he stood watching me in amazement. When I had finished, he calmly asked in as good English as I could use:

"Just where in the dickens do you want to go?"

"I've never studied Spanish since then."

Southland Artist Wins Praise For Paintings

Nell Walker Warner, 345 Chester street, who has won deserved recognition as a Southland artist, is being complimented on the exhibit of her work at the Van Grove studio, 337 North Brand boulevard. The studio provides an ideal setting for the display of pictures, and Mrs. Warner's work seems particularly effective there.

All the pictures are oils and include landscape, watercolor and marines. Special praise is given Mrs. Warner's tree pictures, many of which were done on the bluffs at Santa Monica. Sharing honors with Mrs. Warner in the exhibit is J. H. Stephen Ward, another Glendale artist, who spends much of his time at Bishop.

Prohibitive chemical restrictions in Greece are causing fears of a bread shortage.

GIVE WARNING ON DANGERS FROM FIRE

Federal And County Heads Tell Hazards; Arrest For Carelessness

With hazard from forest fire the worst that it has been this season and with more small brush and grass fires reported in the hills north of Glendale than for any similar period in past years, federal and county forestry officials co-operating with the Angeles Forest Protective association, took steps to guard against serious conflagration in the Verdugo hills today.

Two deputy county foresters, already on patrol duty in the hills, were notified by Chief Deputy County Forester Turner that their number will be augmented by the addition of four more men Monday morning. At the same time a warning was issued from the county sheriff's office that violators of the state act prohibiting the throwing of lighted matches or cigarette butts along county or state highways, will be prosecuted to the limit of the law.

All county men and members of the state highway patrol have been ordered to keep strict lookout for the careless smoker. Under Sheriff E. W. Biscailuz said.

Working under orders from headquarters of the Angeles Forest Protective association, Percy J. Hayselden, chief of the Glendale unit of that organization, issued a call today to all members of the association and all those interested in fire fighting and fire prevention to meet Tuesday night to reorganize the local unit. The meeting will be held in the council chambers of the city hall, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

Makes Inspection Pointing to the need for double precaution against brush and forest fires during the present hot spell, Hayselden said that personal inspections of the hills north of Glendale will be made.

Left to right are CAROL FAY McMURTREE, DOUGLAS MALCOLM COWAN and BETTY JANE STEWART, who appear in the eleventh annual children's society vaudeville program at the Philharmonic auditorium on the night of June 30, in the novelty song and dance number, "I Want to Be Happy," from "No, No, Nanette."

The eleventh annual children's society vaudeville program of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing will be given at the Philharmonic auditorium, Tuesday night, June 30. The entire proceeds will be donated to the Homeless Children's fund of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West.

For the past few years the receipts of the dance recital of Pearl Keller school have been given as a benefit for unfortunate children, one reason being to instill in the children an incentive to help other children.

FREE OUTDOOR CONCERTS BY ORCHESTRA

Glendale Musicians To Give Programs In Parks As Compliment To Public

A program of free outdoor concerts by the Glendale Municipal Symphony orchestra during the summer months was announced today by R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation. The concerts, three in number, will be given at city parks under the direction of J. Arthur Myers, leader of the orchestra.

Exact dates of the concerts have not yet been arranged, Mr. Tucker said. There will be two concerts at Patterson park and one at Nibley park, according to the present plan. The Patterson park programs will be at night, the only afternoon concert being at Nibley park.

Make Preparations Large numbers of music lovers of the city are expected to attend the concerts. Ample seating capacity will be provided. Work on fitting out the parks for the orchestra programs is now under way.

The municipal orchestra was organized about a year ago under the direction of Mr. Myers, co-operating with Community Service. It now includes thirty-five active members, who meet once each week for practice. During the recent Elsteddoff contests in Glendale, the orchestra was accorded signal recognition by recognized musicians from all parts of Southern California.

LARGE CROWD ENJOYS FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Varied Program Pleases In Every Way And Committee In Charge Deserves Praise for Excellent Affair

By G. S. GOSHORN
Of The Evening News Staff.

Whether viewed from the standpoint of attendance or entertainment, enthusiasm or menu, the promoters of the first annual banquet and dance of the Glendale Merchants' association, held at the Oakmont Country club, felt at midnight last night that it had been just about all they could have desired. Exactly 223 sat down at the banquet tables, to which additions had to be placed to accommodate the guests.

The carefully planned program started early in the banquet and left no moments for boredom. Men and women seized the occasion to renew former acquaintanceships and make new ones and mingled affably in lounge or on terrace.

Praise for Glendale The musical features interspersed through the evening and the dance numbers as well testified by the greeting given them to the efforts of the committee. The merchants were especially pleased with the address by A. J. Van De Water, one of the leading credit men in the world, who praised Glendale as enjoying business conditions much above the average in the United States.

Mention by President Charles J. Hatz of the growth of the association from eighty-one to 258 members drew applause as did his expression of appreciation for work performed by the directors and by the manager, W. Hobbs Fernie.

It was 7:30 o'clock when the diners took their seats. The tables were arranged in a letter "E" with the association officers and honor guests at the head table. Progress had been made half way through the menu when many were distressed especially among the women, by an altercation that broke out at the center table between Earl Shoneberger, credit manager of W. H. Hooper & Co. and George Shoberling, manager of the Good Housekeeping shop.

President Hatz was down for a five-minute talk but declined to use so much of the crowded program period, merely mentioning the work and growth of the association and then introducing the other officers and directors, Vice-President H. M. Butts, Secretary-Treasurer O. W. Andresen, Stan-

Daily Greeting to News Readers

THERE ARE FEW SUCCESSFUL MEN—

- Who have not had to begin all over again several times.
- Who are not prouder of their unsullied honor than of their money.
- Who have not profited more by their misfortunes than by their good fortunes.
- Who do not take pride in telling of the hardships they have overcome.

OVER-POPULATION

On one hand we have a class deploring the fact that the birth rate in America has been falling off steadily ever since 1810 and that the condition is more alarming in this country than in France. They tell us childless homes are growing in number and that large families are out of style. On the other hand, there are those who complain that the population of the country and of the world is increasing more rapidly than the means of subsistence, that over-population is always a cause for war and for sickness, poverty, misery and illiteracy.

This may be a question vital to civilization, but the average man and woman is not very much concerned about it one way or the other. They believe these conditions will work themselves out. Birth-control advocates admit it will be a couple of centuries before we reach the saturation point in population, and, while we do not wish to be careless of the rights and welfare of posterity, we cannot have the slightest idea of conditions two hundred years hence, population statistics to the contrary notwithstanding, and so we have no conception of the needs of the people who will be living then.

However, we agree with the eugenicists that every child has a right to be well-born and any organization or person who is working to protect childhood from poverty, disease, suffering and ignorance is entitled to our consideration.

AMBITION AND HOME OWNERSHIP

Everyone admires a man who says, "It can be done," and then does it. Too many of us travel the road of least resistance, fearing to undertake anything that calls for obligations, special effort or sacrifice. As a Glendale man said in an address before the Optimist club the other day, "Too many of us are four-cylinder men running around on one cylinder." It is safe to say that scarcely anyone uses all the powers he possesses.

How often we are told in our school days that there is no such word as "can't", yet when it comes to owning a home many men fall down. Real wealth is represented only in happiness and contentment, the foundation of which is home; so home ownership represents the greatest incentive to effort and ambition of any goal to which man can aspire. Nearly every successful man has acquired his wealth by constant effort, a lot of a home being the first step toward success.

The safest, most permanent and conservative investment for Glendale people today is a lot right here in the home city. It is the first step toward home ownership which means satisfaction and contentment far beyond the effort and sacrifice needed to secure it.

THE BOY'S VACATION

School is out and the problem of how to occupy the boy's time during the summer months is a real one in many families. While he should have some duties to perform, every normal boy likes outdoor sports and he should be given some time to indulge his love for the out-of-doors during the summer. Days spent in the open, camping, fishing, swimming, or doing any of the things he loves to do are of great value to a lad, and outings of this kind are not without their bearing on his after life.

An outdoor life magazine sums up the value of this sort of a vacation for a boy as follows:

"The value of instructing a boy in the ethics of clean sportsmanship in building his character, is obvious. All through his life he will base his decisions on the training he receives now. If he learns, as a boy, to respect the sportsmanlike rules of the game, he will be a better man and will achieve greater things. Lawyers, judges and scientists who have made an intensive study of the boy problem are unanimous in their opinion that proper supervision of a boy's vacation is of vital importance in his career."

REORGANIZATION IN CABINET

Reorganization of departments to do away with duplication of effort in the executive branch of our national government has not been all talk, as such projects sometimes are. As a result of the determination of President Coolidge to do away with useless bureaus and boards steps have already been taken to this end. There has been a general agreement that there ought to be reorganization to get rid of duplication, overlapping functions and other causes of inefficiency for which poor organization is responsible. A special commission drew up a law for reorganization but Congress has not yet passed it. The various departments and bureaus were set up by law, therefore it requires another law to rearrange and simplify them. But there is one exception and the President has already taken advantage of this. The Patent office has been transferred from the Interior to the Commerce department and on July 1 the Bureau of Mines will be transferred from the Interior to the Commerce department. Heretofore the Bureau of Mines and the Department of Commerce have duplicated each other's work on eight different counts.

THE AVERAGE MAN

When we read about the great captains of industry, the political lights, the movie stars, the world flyers and other explorers, the great writers and inventors, we are apt to think we do not amount to much. But it is the average man who keeps the old world moving. It is he who supports business, elects presidents and pays salaries and royalties to the great. Someone has said of the average man that "he lifts his voice and cabinets resign. He makes a little cross on a sheet of paper and changes a government policy. He absents himself from church and theology adjusts itself to his opinions. He lifts the obscure to high places and puts them in the discard when they grow arrogant. He digs a portion of a trench and eats canned beef and pulls a trigger, and the kings of the earth scurry to shelter and a new era dawns." The average man is powerful. But so often he does not realize his own power.

Vacation trips would be much more pleasant if the first stop wasn't the savings bank.

Haven't We Awarded the 'Dumb-bell' Championship a Trifle Hastily?

Gas

By DR. FRANK CRANE

In an address at Geneva the other day Theodore Burton of the United States suggested that the nations unite in abolishing poisonous gases as they are a barbarity of modern warfare.

When men commonly used swords and spears they thought that Greek fire and gunpowder were barbarous. Now that gunpowder has become common, tradition has accepted its use in honorable warfare, but is protesting against gas.

It should not be forgotten that the business of warfare is to kill people. That is the sole object of war, and that which kills the most people with the least suffering is the best instrument of warfare.

Proponents for the use of gas point out that its effects are not so bad as the effects of explosives. More people recover from gas injuries than recover from gun shot wounds.

"The Chevalier Bayard," says Dr. J. B. S. Hal-

dane, "was regarded by his contemporary soldiers as sans peur et sans reproche. To captured knights he was the soul of courtesy, but to musketeers and other users of gunpowder the penalty was death."

The attachment of the professional soldier to cruel and obsolete killing machines is remarkable. Gas is merely a modern method of killing people. It is contended that its use in war on the largest possible scale would render it less expensive of life and property and more dependent on brains rather than numbers. It is denied that it is more barbarous and indecisive and leads to the wiping out of the population of whole cities.

Since the use of gas is a modern and efficient way of putting people out of business the makers of war will in vain endeavor to keep a nation from the employment of it.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

It is about time for us to be rid of the idea that Money is Sinful.

The sole authority for the popular delusion that "the love of money is the root of all evil," appears to be the Bible. But the Bible also gives the advice,—"Wine maketh merry; but money answereth all things."

Bernard Shaw is not merely being facetious when he declares that money is the most important thing in the world, for he feels that the universal regard for money is the one hopeful fact in our civilization, the one sound spot in our social conscience.

All of us who think that money represents health, strength, honor, generosity and beauty as conspicuously and undeniably as the want of it represents illness, weakness, disgrace, meanness and ugliness; and that not the least of its virtues is that it destroys base people as certainly as it fortifies and dignifies noble ones.

"It is only when money is cheapened to worthlessness for some, and made impossibly dear to others, that it becomes a curse."

In short, it is a curse only in such foolish social conditions that life itself is a curse. For the two things are inseparable: money is the counter that enables life to be distributed socially; it is life as truly as silver dollars and bank notes are money.

"The first duty of every citizen is to have money on reasonable terms; and this demand is not complied with by giving four men two dollars each for ten or twelve hours' drudgery and another a thousand dollars for nothing."

"The crying need is not for better morals, cheaper bread, prohibition, liberty, culture, redemption of fallen sisters and erring brothers, nor the grace, love and fellowship of the Trinity, but simply for enough money."

"And the evil to be attacked is not sin, suffering, greed, priestcraft, kingcraft, demagoguery, monopoly, ignorance, drink, war, pestilence, nor any other of the scapegoats which reformers sacrifice, but simply POVERTY."

Let us change "Love of money is the root of all evil" to "Poverty is the root of all evil." Then we will be nearer the truth.

Who's Who

The appointment of Sir Edward Grigg to the $30,000 a year governorship of the Kenya colony and of the East African protectorate in the place of the late Sir Robert Coryndon, is one which is likely to excite some interest on this side of the Atlantic.

For Sir Edward will be remembered in America as having been attached to the staff of the Prince of Wales as his military secretary when he came over here in 1919, afterward accompanying him to Australia and to New Zealand. On the prince's return home Grigg's connection with the royal household was severed and he became the principal private secretary of the then Premier David Lloyd George.

Sir Edward is married to the attractive and clever Joan Poynder, only child and heiress of Lord Islington, formerly known as Sir Dickson Poynder.

Whether or not Sir Edward will prove a success as governor of Kenya and as high commissioner for the British East African protectorate is a matter of considerable speculation and will depend very largely upon Lady Grigg, who is a tactful person. There is no dependency of the British crown where so much tact is required.

The administration of Kenya and of the East African protectorate is one of the most thorny colonial problems by which the British crown is confronted. Two governors have already come to grief in their efforts to reconcile the conflicting interests of the white, the East Indian and of the native population. The utmost patience, the most conciliatory manner, the blending of elasticity with firmness and at the same time a super-abundance of tact are required on the part of the man who is called upon to rule this huge dependency with its great area and enormous bitterly divided population.

AT LA CRESCENTA

By MARY B. DARROW
Evening News Correspondent.

LA CRESCENTA, June 26.—
"Ah! to build, to build. That is the noblest of all arts." So said Longfellow. So must the members of the La Crescenta Women's club feel now that they have at last accomplished their dream of several years. They are at last in their own club home. The clubhouse, first used this week, is dedicated to a life of community usefulness.

Opening the annual club luncheon, the first event in the building, Mrs. Charles Turk, president of the club for the past year, welcomed all beneath its roof. Many were the words of congratulation
she had for the contractor, Frank L. Howard, who saved the building committee not only time but money. Mr. Howard was a guest of the club at the luncheon.

Tables were spread in the main hall by the fireplace. Masses of seasonal blooms added to the attractiveness of the women's bright dresses, and made a colorful setting for the opening of the clubhouse and the installation of incoming officers. Retiring and incoming presidents were seated together while officers for the coming year were at one end and retiring officers at the other end of the long tables. Mrs. Turk and Mrs. Olive Wetmore, incoming president, both wore beautiful corsage bouquets of Killarney roses,

the gifts of the ways and means committee. Coffee for the luncheon was prepared by Mrs. S. L.
Card, new chairman of ways and means and first vice-president.

In the absence of the chairman,
Mrs. Lotta Collins, Mrs. Martin
read the prayer. Mrs. Turk led the flag salute. Mrs. R. Q. Mac-Donald, accompanist, played for the singing of the national anthem. Minutes of the previous meeting read by the secretary,
Mrs. A. B. Cochran, were accepted as was the treasurer's report by Mrs. J. Martin. Special mention was made of the drive conducted by Mrs. Arthur Aiken, as chairman of the drive committee. Mrs.
Aiken alone has solicited $2000
for the fund.

Tigers and songs were given for the following: Mrs. Turk as president who obtained so many donations for the new clubhouse;
Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bissell for building committee duties, for Howard, the contractor; for Mr.
and Mrs. Biescar, who not only made it possible for the funds to be raised to build with, but who are also giving a gas range to the club, and for Anna Aiken for her drive work.

The following firms have contributed to the furnishings of the club home: Lauderdale Irish Linen store of Glendale, hangings for card room; Hutchinson studio of Glendale, all curtains and hangings gratis; Webb Department store, marquessette hangings for lobby, office and lounge rooms;

Mr. Salmacia of the Glendale Music Co., who has made it possible for the club to use a Grand piano
through the summer months;

Reichenbacher Co., four Windsor chairs; Broadway Electric Co.,
piano; lamp; Russell Pierce Co., bridge lamp; Wilson & Bell, two gallon coffee pot and an aluminum dish pan followed by an offer to furnish the entire kitchen gratis with hotel equipment; La Crescenta Hardware Co., two dozen teaspoons; Montrose Furniture Co., all linoleum laid and given gratis; Mr. and Mrs. S. F.
Card, several folding tables; Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Turk, four chairs and two folding tables; J.
W. Robinson Co. of Los Angeles,
two card tables; Mrs. Elsie Farmer, aluminum pie pans for members to use when furnishing pies for club affairs; Mr. and Mrs.
Harvey Bissell, extra large refrigerator; blacksmith of La Canada,
two wrought iron porch lamps;
Simpson Hardware Co. of Montrose, large bunting flag, and Mark S. Collins, a great reduction in the insurance policy on building.

Other gifts are promised so with each member buying one or more chairs the clubhouse will be almost completely furnished when the formal opening is held Tuesday night.

Already thirty-three wicker and ten mahogany chairs have been subscribed for by members. Each chair will carry the owner's name on it in a neat plate. A telegram of congratulation was received from Mr. and Mrs. Mark

S. Collins and Mrs. Charles Collins who are at present in their home town of Readfield, Me.

A number of the members volunteered to assist Mr. and Mrs.
Harvey Bissell and Mrs. Anna Aiken in preparing sandwiches for the L. C. members of the Angeles Fire Protective association when on the firing line. Mrs. Collin Cable of Glendale gave a detailed account of the work being done by the Glendale Music club in bringing the Philharmonic course to this town and many members of the club signified their intention to attend. Mrs. A. F. Hopkins spoke on the Hollywood Bowl concerts, tickets being on sale at the various stores throughout the valley. Mrs. Viola Waddell invited the members to her annual barbecue at her Glendale home next month.

The following directors and officers were installed by the retiring president: Directors, Mes-sieurs Mark S. Collins, L. Meritt,
C. P. Waste and Charles Turk;
Mrs. Olive Wetmore, president;
Mrs. F. S. Card, first vice-president; Mrs. Howard Reynolds, second vice-president and federation secretary; A. B. Cochran, secretary, and Mrs. John Martin, treasurer; chaplain, Mrs. Charles Collins; standing committees—decorating, Mrs. Louise Erwin; music, Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald; press and historian, Mrs. Tillinghast; courtesy, Mrs. William Reed; hospitality, Mrs. G. Conlin; calling, Mrs.
L. Meritt; program, Mrs. F.
George; membership, Mrs. A. F.
Hopkins; social service, Mrs. C. A.
Haskins; philanthropy, Mrs. O.
Hexham; furnishings, Mrs. Harvey Bissell; co-operation with ex-service men, Mrs. A. P. MacCarton; arts, Mrs. S. V. Phillips; travel, Mrs. Turk; citizenship,
Mrs. Alice Singleton; home economics, Mrs. Milo Giege; literature, Mrs. Charles Collins, and drama, Mrs. Jessie Hansen.

Miss Biescar, 13-year-old member of the club, played by request a waltz, "Indian Love Song" by Cadman. Mrs. Virginia Tillery presented the club with a large photograph of the cornerstone ceremonies. Mrs. H. Biescar took several pictures of the members yesterday.

Rev. Clifford Jones, pastor of the La Crescenta Community church, announces the following services for Sunday, June 28:
Sunday school, 9:45 o'clock; morning service at 11 o'clock when the topic discussed will be "Every man's Imagination"; 6:30 o'clock, Christian Endeavor, members meeting in the parlors. They extend a cordial invitation to all young people of the valley to join them.

The Sunday night service will be in charge of the American Legion who will use their Independence day ritual after which Rev. Jones will speak on "Higher Patriotism."
Last night those attending the weekly church nights, studied the
"Holy Spirit and the Christian Life."

All children between the ages of 4 and 14 are eligible to join the daily vacation school. Already seventy-eight children have enrolled and are enjoying the various subjects. On Saturday men of the congregation will work on the church grounds again, cleaning up and planting trees and shrubs. All donations of trees and bushes will be heartily welcomed.

Saturday afternoon the first social affair will be held in the La Crescenta Women's clubhouse
when Mrs. G. Cobb of Los Angeles will entertain with a bridge and mah jong party, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the building fund of the club. Mrs.
Cobb who formerly resided in the valley, planned on giving the affair at her home on West Seventh but consented to use the clubhouse when notified it would be ready. Tickets are 25 cents for each person or $2 per table. Each hostess will supply her own prizes.
Tea will be served.

Tuesday night, June 30, has been set by the building committee and ways and means committee on which to formally throw open the new clubhouse by a dance.

German textile mills are paying nearly as large profits as just before the war.

AUXILIARY HEARS GUILD HALL TALK

Mrs. Daniel Campbell Says
Bible Should Be Read In Every Household

"The Bible may not be read in the public schools, but it should be read in every home," was the thought Mrs. Daniel Campbell left with members and guests of the Women's Auxiliary of St.
Mark's Episcopal church, when she spoke at the luncheon in the Guild hall yesterday on "The Book
I Love."

Introduced by Mrs. George Robinson, Auxiliary president, as "Glendale's most beloved woman,"
Mrs. Campbell in her delightfully informal manner talked on the Bible, which she declared she loved because "it is so human, so natural, and so truthful in a straightforward way." From Biblical personalities, incidents and quotations she drew lessons for everyday life, declaring in closing that "the Bible teaches us how to live."

Talks on Auxiliary
Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of the church, and Mrs. Kemp were also special guests at the luncheon. Rev. Kemp spoke on "The Relation of the Auxiliary to the Parish." He told of the development of the auxiliary from the domestic and foreign missionary society, founded in 1835. During his talk he complimented the local auxiliary on accomplishments. His closing words were:

"The growth of the auxiliary is reflected in the parish interest in missions. The auxiliary is the standard bearer of missionary interest in the church."

Alaskan Fund Helped

Mrs. A. A. Bassett and Mrs. B.
O. Holbrook were joint hostesses at the luncheon, proceeds of which went toward the Alaskan box fund.
There were more than fifty members and guests present. These two women were opposing captains in a membership drive early in the year, and since their teams decided to give the benefit luncheon yesterday. The box sent to Alaska contained a number of shirts for needy boys, and yesterday Mrs.
Robinson read a clever original poem, "The Song of the Shirts."

Mrs. W. J. Farber gave a poetical toast to "Officers, Past and Present." Mrs. Gladys Gibbs
Sherman gave an enjoyable vocal number, the negro spiritual,
"Going Home" and "Rose in the Bud." She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Alma Gibbs.
There were three past presidents
in attendance, Mrs. John Trotter,
Mrs. Eleanor Squires and Mrs.
Archie Parker.

COMMENT BY GIL A. COWAN

R. Ernest Tucker of Community Service says words worth while when he tells the writer that Glendale needs another swimming pool. Not only one but two or three more, if anyone should ask us, but let's compromise with the city dads on getting another big tank for the kiddies.

As we recollect, it was the parade of school children in bathing suits that carried the bond election several years ago for the Patterson park pool. And now so many big folks are to be seen disporting themselves in the sixty-foot plunge that there isn't room for the youngsters.

Now, if you will bear with a few facts, the public swimming pool is a good investment. First of all, it provides recreation, healthy exercise and a very necessary course in self-preservation.
Second, it is an ideal, well supervised place for the youngsters, and it is a recognized factor in building moral character. Third, the small charges paid for suits and towels practically pay the expenses of conducting a plunge, and in some cities revenue ac-crues although that is slightly thought of.

There is nothing that endears a town to the child more than playgrounds and public plunges. Glendale can well afford them.

"Fame and fortune" has become a hackneyed expression. Sad as it may seem, the famous men of America lack fortune, as it is figured in dollars and cents. The deaths of former Vice-President
Thomas R. Marshall, Senator
Robert M. La Follette and others reveal that they have left estates of five figures, whereas few people consider themselves wealthy, or even well-to-do, until they are rated at more than $100,000.

Likewise, California's most noted men, Senator Hiram Johnson and Luther Burbank, among others, possess most modest means, although Governor Richardson is said to be fairly well to do and saving money on his salary. He founded his fortune in the newspaper business, by the way.

After all is said and done, the acquisitiveness of our wealthy members of society, not a little fame. Likewise, the fame of a father is seldom shared by sons.
However, there are exceptions which prove the rule.

CREATION PROVED BY ANIMAL LIFE

Evangelist Says None Can Know Wonders Of World
And Deny Creator

The wonders of creation as proving that the animal life on our globe did not come by evolution, was the theme of Astronomer-Evangelist Knox's lecture last night. Not progress upward, but degeneracy, is stamped upon the face of nature as we see it today, he affirmed.

"Birds and fish," Knox said, "which were created on the same day, according to the Bible narrative, have structures which show many points of similarity. Both are perfectly adapted to the elements in which they live. If we had lived during creation week we would no doubt have said it was impossible to make an animal with power to rise from the ground and travel through the air. God gave the birds hollow bones, and in other ways made their bodies light in proportion to their size. Animals that were meant to stick to the earth have solid bones."

"There are 7000 species of birds, and they were put here by the creator for our pleasure and service. They were all meant to render obedience to man, and a few of them still remain in this class. But many more exhibit marvelous endowments. These are parrots that can carry on conversations and repeat the Lord's prayer. The Boston oriole uses its bill like a needle in sewing its nest to a limb, first having found string or horsehair or something else to serve as thread. The loon is not half as loony as many people think, for he can go away to a distance of thousands of miles and easily find his way back again."

Birds Have Sense

"The creator has endowed birds with the intelligence to know just where to go when they want a change of climate. The case is not so foolish as he is credited with being, for there was never a flock of geese that sought a night's rest without first posting one of their number as a sentinel to give warning in case of danger, and this sentinel stands on one foot to insure keeping awake. The swallow showed men how to build a California stucco."

"There are 8000 species of fish in the waters of the earth, and they live in an element in which we, if we knew nothing about fish, would no doubt decide that the functions of animal life could not be maintained. The scales of fish correspond to the feathers of the birds. The fish is perfectly adapted for gliding through the water, and some of them can travel with marvelous rapidity. The salmon outstrips the swallow in speed, and the shark can out-travel the eagle. All these wonderful endowments of the animal world speak to us not of chance or of evolution, but of the wisdom and power of a creator."

Mr. Babenco, whose imitation of bird songs was a feature of the musical program much appreciated by the audience, will be on the program again tonight.

COWBOY EXPERTS HEAD FOR RODEO

Frontier Days of Prescott Magnet for Tourists; to Have World's Best

PRESCOTT, Ariz., June 26.—With cash prizes totaling more than $10,000 dollars for the different events, scores of cowpunchers, roughriders and champion ropers are arriving in Prescott daily for the biggest western rodeo held in years on July 1 to 4 inclusive. Each year hundreds of contestants thrill thousands of tourists who make special effort just to be in the northern Arizona city to help celebrate the Prescott Frontier Days.

Coming from every state in the western territory, the finest cowboys and cowgirls from Arizona, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Idaho, New Mexico, and California, make their appearance daily in real exhibitions of horsemanship and broncho-busting.

Prescott Frontier Days is sponsored by the citizens of this thriving Arizona town and is held annually to revive the real western spirit which many years ago distinguished this section.

METHODISTS TO PICNIC

The First Methodist Episcopal church school will hold its annual picnic tomorrow afternoon at Monte Vista park. Those attending will meet at 1 o'clock at the church, North Kenwood street and East Wilson avenue, and motor to the park. The afternoon program will include games, featured by baseball between the departments. Supper will be served at 5 o'clock by a committee headed by Mrs. Warren. The picnic committee included A. J. Shepard, chairman; Elwood Ingledue, sports; Paul Butterfield, transportation; Mrs. S. M. Warren, refreshments.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Van Grove's studio at 337 North Brand boulevard will be the place of meeting, at 8 o'clock tonight, of the artists' section of Glendale Music club. Miss Gertrude Cleophas, chairman, will preside. The program will be given by Keamoku Lewis, Hawaiian baritone; Mrs. Harry McMullin, soprano; Enona Hopkins, harpist, and Christine Edwards, violinist.

MERCHANTS GIVE SPECIAL PRICES

Community Stores Conduct
Advertising Campaign
In Evening News

A remarkable demonstration of what can be done by a community was put through last week by the stores and business concerns at Los Feliz road and Central avenue last week.

Their co-operation started with an advertising campaign of a page in last Friday's issue of The Glendale Evening News, in which was featured many items given away free with other purchases of large amounts. This proved very productive, for it gave them an opportunity to show the people just what values in drugs, meats, groceries, vegetables, gasoline, and such service as beauty parlor, real estate and auto loans they had to offer.

It is their plan to continue a campaign of this nature in The Glendale Evening News. Today there is a half-page advertisement on "Special for Saturday," and one will appear next Friday. The Glendale Evening News is glad to co-operate with Glendale communities in this manner.

SHOE STORE WILL REOPEN TUESDAY

Glendale Bootery Will Move
To 219 North Brand;
Sale To Close

The remodeling sale of the Glendale Bootery will end tomorrow night, and the firm will open Tuesday in larger quarters at 219 North Brand boulevard, according to R. E. Brown, proprietor. The firm has secured a long lease on the new storeroom, and the stock to be carried by the concern will be larger than in previous years.

Mr. Brown expressed his satisfaction of the manner in which the sale has been carried. Most of the stock has been cleared in three weeks, he said, and Mr. Brown points to this fact as evidence that residents of Glendale find in the Glendale Bootery a store where they can obtain all widths and sizes in shoes, and a service equal to that rendered in stores of larger cities.

AT RESEARCH HOSPITAL

John Shely of 5035 Townsend avenue, Eagle Rock, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis last night at Glendale Research hospital. Mrs. George Pritchard of 4940 Genevieve street, Eagle Rock, and Albert J. Tanaka of 3350 South San Fernando road, Glendale, underwent emergency appendectomy operations this morning at the same hospital.

VISIT AT CATALINA

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Brandstater and son Oliver of 401 West Wilson avenue, spent two days early in the week at Catalina.

DR. REMMEN BACK

Dr. E. T. Remmen of 1139 Juniper avenue, who has offices in the Lawson building, returned this morning from North Dakota, where he spent two weeks.

NAME OFFICERS FOR SOCIETY IN ATWATER

Joseph Behen Is President of Baptist Young People's Union; Ruth Davis Will Serve as Secretary

New officers of the Atwater Baptist Young People's Union were announced today by Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor of the church. Joseph Behen, 3266 Ingledale Terrace, will be president of the class during the coming year. Other officers will be Miss Mildred Anderson, 1223 East Lexington avenue, vice-president; Miss Ruth Davis, Atwater avenue, secretary; and Miss Helen Myren, 3349 Atwater avenue, treasurer.

Forty members of the union enjoyed a weiner roast and outdoor social at Echo Park this week. They plan a number of events for the summer season.

Sermon topics of Rev. Nelson for Sunday will be "God's Great Gift" and "The Indelible Stamp of Sin."

Street Light Proceedings

In spite of the fact that no settlement has been reached as to what type of light standards will be installed on cross streets of the Atwater district between Glendale and Los Feliz boulevards, the Board of Public Works is proceeding with preliminary work in anticipation of street lights in these sections.

Engineers of the department are surveying the curb lines and marking the proper spacings for installation of the lights as soon as the type of light is designated.

Planes at Griffith Park

At least one and probably two airplanes of the federal forestry service will be stationed at Griffith park flying field during the summer and will patrol the Griffith Park area, Hollywood hills and the district north of Glendale. With the stationing of scout planes at the field hazard from forest and brush fires which might start in the park will be greatly reduced.

Improve Phone Service

Conduit pipes of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., are being laid through the Atwater district to connect with the larger conduit now being built across the Los Angeles river to connect the Prospect office in Hollywood with the Atwater phones. When the work is completed all phones in the district will be placed on the Prospect exchange. Additional facilities for patrons and better service will result with completion of the improvement, to cost many thousand dollars.

Personals From District

A number of Atwater residents are leaving shortly for trips on land and on sea. W. J. Hibbert and wife of 1921 Vassar street, will leave on the Mongolia on July 6 for Europe. They will return sometime in September.

Mrs. Mary Cays of 4212 Parkdale avenue and her nephew, Kenneth Peterson, will spend the summer in Seattle. They will make the trip by water.

Floyd G. Nelson, son of Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor of the Baptist church, left yesterday for a month's trip to Honolulu. He will represent the Union Oil Co., while on the islands.

Mrs. J. E. Noble is in the east for an extended vacation trip. She is at present visiting relatives at Minneapolis and St. Paul. She will be away two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Kenoffel have gone to Butte, Mont., where they will visit for a month. Mr. Kenoffel is a contractor in the Atwater district.

Mrs. Anderson Hostess

Mrs. Walter Anderson, 3959 Revere street, Atwater, entertained friends Thursday at luncheon and cards. Large French bouquets decorated the rooms and the luncheon table. Bridge and five hundred were played. Those enjoying the affair were Mesdames Carrie Campbell, E. V. Bacon, S. J. Vantine, M. C. Newton, A. L. Bancroft, J. W. Sharpe, Al Vaulet and Miss Frances Vaulet.

ELKS INVITE FRIENDS

Glendale Elks and their friends are invited to the "get acquainted" dance at the Elks' lodge rooms Saturday night. Dr. Paul J. Holmes announced. Fallon's Californians will furnish the music for the dancing. Special novelty dance and vocal numbers will be given. Refreshments will be served.

RETURNS FROM MEET

Robert L. Stanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stanford, 334 North Central avenue, returned yesterday from Berkeley where he further added to his laurels as a promising young tennis player. Stanford, a student of the University of California, southern branch, is becoming widely known as tennis player of champion calibre. Last week he played in the semi-finals of the Pacific coast tournament, held in Berkeley, and throughout the college year has made an enviable tennis record for himself.

HONORED AT COLLEGE

Miss Genevieve Mulligan, 321 East Lomita street, was especially honored in her junior year at University of Southern California. During the past year, Miss Mulligan was elected a member of the Women's Honor society of the university.

STAGE AND SCREEN

VIEWS AND PREVIEWS—NEWS NOTES FROM STUDIOS
Compiled By Members of The Glendale Evening News Staff

Jazz Girl

Gladys Delmar of her 'Syncopated Sextette,' on vaudeville bill at Glendale theatre today and Saturday.

Gladys Delmar, who plays the part of the unsophisticated country "Jane" in the feature act on the vaudeville program at the Glendale Theatre, today and tomorrow, has created a new role in music revues. With her five young men musicians she calls her organization a "Syncopated Sextette." The boys are accomplished artists on their respective instruments but it remains for Miss Delmar to inject the proper amount of comedy and pep with her "hick" dancing numbers and humorous wise-cracks to put the act over as a perfect entertainment combination.

Big Novelty Act

Mamie Ling and Tommy Long make a team that is irresistible. The performance of Billy Knight and his score or more of roosters demonstrates conclusively what can be done by sheer patience and perseverance. For years, Knight has toiled with the common ordinary variety of backyard roosters from the time they were small chicks until full grown, with the result that he has today one of the biggest novelty acts in vaudeville. What he makes his poultry stars do is plenty. They perform like veterans doing practically every trick of an acrobatic nature that is known to their supposedly more intelligent brethren.

All lovers of things beautiful, and this applies more especially to the women, will be charmed with the gorgeous real lace setting used by Ray and Esther Valey as the background to their act.

Thrilling Picture

With George A. Mack who was once a boy soprano in the Paulist choir, singing his newest repertoire of songs and telling his latest stories the vaudeville offering should be one of the most popular of the season.

"Soft Shoes," Harry Carey's latest Hunt Stromberg production is on the screen today and tomorrow. This is a thrilling tale of the underworld written by Hunt Stromberg from an idea suggested by Carey himself.

Although the stunts, dear to the hearts of Carey fans, are much in evidence, real humor and interest are interspersed.

The cast includes Lillian Rich, leading woman opposite Carey, Francis Ford, well-known serial "villain," John Stepping and So-Jin, the Chinese Prince of "The Thief of Bagdad." Lloyd Ingraham directed.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, June 26.—The Burbank cannery of Libby, McNeil & Libby began operations here yesterday. Apricots are being packed at the present time. The season will continue until the last of the tomato pack.

Rachael Ake, student at the Roscoe school, was brought to the Burbank hospital with severe gashes on her arm and wrist, sustained when she accidentally thrust her arm through a heavy pane of glass.

J. E. Barnett and A. R. Sturtevant, both of Lancaster, were fined $50 each by Police Judge Watson when they pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness.

Vera McGinnis of Orange Cove, world champion rodeo and trick rider, is appearing with a group of entertainers in Shanghai, China, at the present time, according to word received by relatives here.

Charles H. Randall, councilman-elect from the San Fernando valley, was presented with a gold chain and charm by the Hansen Heights Improvement association at a meeting held at the Roscoe Community church. A chicken dinner was served by the Ladies Aid.

Charges of passing a fictitious check against James A. Nelson was dismissed by Police Judge Watson when J. C. Kuentz, complaining witness, failed to appear in court.

DOUBLE COMEDY BILL AT COSMO

Elinor Glyn Produces Film
Different From Others
She Has Directed

Today and tomorrow the feature picture at the Cosmo theatre will be Elinor Glyn's comedy-romance, "Man and Maid," with a Buster Keaton comedy, "The Frozen North," to round out the bill. This picture is said to be Keaton's funniest short length comedy.

"Man and Maid" marks the first appearance in years of the fascinating Lew Cody in the role of a hero. The erstwhile, suave villain makes love to the adorable blonde, Harriet Hammond, the chic, dainty Renee Adore, and the fiery, brunette beauty, Paulette Duval. "You may criticize a Glyn picture," says the New York Sun critic, "but you will never find yourself sleeping through it. And you most certainly will never be caught napping when the big scenes come along. For Mme. Glyn's big scenes are bigger than anybody else's."

COMEDY PICTURE ON GATEWAY BILL

Weber and Fields Are Seen
In 'Friendly Enemies'
Today, Tomorrow

There is such a thing as taking advantage of a fellow's good nature, and in the case of Weber and Fields, comedy team, who have been playing together for half a century, they are so everlastingly good-natured, people are likely to take advantage of their sweet dispositions without a second thought.

Weber and Fields have just completed their work in "Friendly Enemies," an Edward Belasco production, now showing at the Gateway theatre today and tomorrow. It happens that just at the same time Doni & Liveright, book publishers, placed "Weber and Fields" by Felix Isman on the book stands. It is the biography of these two delightful men, whose wonderful courtesy, unflinching devotion to their work and unending good spirits have endeared them to their fellow-workers as with their great public.

Six Vaudeville Acts on Week's Bill at Bard's

"Bobbed Hair" with Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan, is the feature on Bard's Pasadena bill, and the short subjects including a pre-release Charley Chase comedy are followed by six big acts of Pantages vaudeville. Performances are continuous from 2 to 11 o'clock daily with de luxe shows at 3, 7 and 9 o'clock. New show starts Sunday for three days and includes David Belasco's celebrated stage success, "The Boomerang," with Anita Stewart and Bert Lytell. Special musical presentations enhance the general program.

Is a Lion afraid of a cock?

Medieval wiseacres used to wag their heads and tell tales like this in the village marketplace. An amusing superstition, of course, but is it any more absurd than the belief that there is something mysteriously "better" about eastern motor oils just because they cost more and come from eastern crudes?

Professional drivers and economy-run experts out after records don't share this superstition—why should you pay tribute?

Zerolene—the choice of Western Motorists

Zerolene lubricates more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—a better oil if it does cost less. Zerolene increases the gasoline mileage, reduces the carbon removal and maintenance costs and lengthens the life of any car in which it is used.

Zerolene checked fifteen times for quality

As a matter of fact, the best crude so far discovered for the manufacture of motor lubricants is obtained on the Pacific Coast. And the most highly developed refining process is the high-vacuum process, the patents on which are held by this Company. And 15 positive checks on Zerolene at the refinery make quality control absolute.

Why pay tribute to superstition when you want the best oil you can get? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

QUAINT JEWELRY

The girl who is ordinary looking, who is passed by in even a small crowd, who is not remembered after she is met, is the one who does not understand the gentle art of self-decoration. Now we decorate ourselves when we put on a dress or a hat, or even powder our noses, whenever we do anything to make ourselves attractive or presentable. This Chat is for the hopelessly ordinary looking girl.

If you can't, by any possibility, be pretty, be quaint. Be original, not freakishly, but attractively so. Learn the art of decoration. Don't wear clothes like other people. To an extent, follow the style; you don't want to wear ground length skirts when the rest of us have them more than half way to the knees; you don't want to wear skimpy things when styles are full. Especially should your street suit be in fashion, you can't be quaint or original in a tailored costume unless you spend a good bit of money.

But your evening dresses can be picture costumes, your house gowns as quaint and attractive and far away from fashion as you please. And you can do much in the way of self-decoration by hunting up quaint bits of jewelry, out of the way, unusual things. You won't find such bits in any modern jewelry store; you'll have to ransack the antique shops, the vegetable in the jar, the old "cold dipping" has been abandoned. Tomorrow—The Fourth-of-July Party

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

The housewife who has a kitchen garden boasting of corn will want to put up at least a few jars of this delicious vegetable.

United States Government experts advise the use of a steam pressure canner for this vegetable as follows: Cut the corn kernels off the cob without precooking and place them in a saucepan in boiling water to cover, and let kernels heat thoroughly (off the range). Now fill sterilized quart-size glass jars with the hot kernels, add one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of sugar to each jar (and more boiling water if necessary to fill jar to within one-fourth inch of top); put on fresh rubber cover, and place top wire up but do not press down side wire. Put the jar in this way in your pressure canner, process for 80 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, or 250 degrees Fahrenheit. Then remove, press down side wire, label and store.

Corn Canned in the Water Bath Outfit: Many housewives have, in other years, had excellent success by canning their corn either in a commercial water-bath outfit, or by using their clothes boiler, or fitted with wire rack in the bottom. If you do not possess the steam pressure outfit, and cannot afford one, simply proceed as above directed until you reach the stage of putting the top wire up and not pressing down the side wire; after this, simply stand the jar in boiling water to cover it, after the water has recommenced to boil, keep track of the time. It should remain in the boiling water for one hour, then it should be taken out, and the side wire pressed down. Let jar stand in ordinary room temperature overnight. In the morning, raise the side wire again, and once more stand the jar in boiling water in your boiler, for another hour of processing—exactly as you did before. Completely seal, let stand overnight, and on the third morning still again raise the side wire, process the jar in the same way for an hour in your clothes boiler and when you press down the side wire this time the work is done.

This is called the "Intermittent or Three-Day-Processing Method." It is safer than the old One-Period Method of processing. Housewives who used to pack their vegetables into the can cold, will note that in up-to-date canning directions, although "blanching" (that is, dipping into hot water) is often advised before placing fruit or

RADIOS WALLOP CREAMERY LADS

Manager Watts Hurls Team
To Victory; Big Game
This Afternoon

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.
The Radios fattened their batting averages when they stretched thirteen hits into seventeen runs yesterday while holding the Glendale Creamery team down to three tallies and seven hits. It was a game that would not keep anyone sitting on the edge of their seats with the shades of evening rolling along.

Four double plays, two by each side, supplied a touch of interest to the contest. Three were by skillful baseball, the fourth was due to lack of baseball knowledge.

Manager Watts of the Radio team, did mound duty, and in addition to fooling the creamery lads, surprised himself by hitting a homer to centerfield in the first inning. He was still surprised when he started to pitch, and the milk peddlers gathered two runs off him in the first inning.

This afternoon the battle of the century will be staged at the Broadway High school, when the Huli Trucks and the Firemen decide which team shall finish the first half of the schedule in first place. Both teams have six victories and no defeats to their credit. The game is scheduled to start at 5:40 o'clock.

Cubs Get Help From Angels

JIMMY McAULEY, star shortstop for Los Angeles last season, who has been making good with Bill Killefer's team since Rabbit Maranville cracked his ankle in an exhibition game. Jimmy is trying to fill the shoes of Charley Hollocher.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Written for The Evening News.

Unwittingly one of the famous

Wright boys started a lot of trouble

for the present day Chicago

Cubs when he invented the shortstop position some fifty or sixty years ago.

But for their inability to keep a shortstop sound in mind and limb the Windy City team might have been basking in the limelight of the league championship

for the last two years.

Trouble started a couple of years ago, when Charley Hollo-cher, on his way to fame as a shortfielder and all-around star,

was troubled with heartburn or specks in front of his eyes after meals or something.

He tried dinner mints, funny

charcoal tablets and seventeen

other recommendations of friends and hotel lobby physicians. No use. His stomach got worse.

In 1922 Hollocher showed his class as a shortstop by leading the league in fielding. He hit .339

and ranked second in sacrifice

hitting with thirty-seven bunts.

Then Blow Fell

Then his troubles—and Manager Bill Killefer's—commenced.

In 1923 he broke into less than half the games—sixty-six, to be exact. How valuable a cog in the machine he was while in the game was indicated again by the records, which showed him ranking second in fielding, and batting .342.

The best man Killefer had to fill his shoes was Earl Adams.

This willing youngster was but a fair fielder, however, and hit but

.289, more than fifty points below Charley.

Last year Hollocher hesitated about playing. There were conflicting reports as to his reasons.

Everything, from his health to his desire for a change of scenery, was mentioned as probable reasons.

He finally reported, however,

and broke into some seventy games. He retained his fielding ability, ranking second for the year, but his hitting dropped to the ridiculously low average of

.244. Adams, who tried again to fill his shoes, hit .279.

Then, at the close of the 1924

campaign, Hollocher made it

plain he probably would not play

this year. Killefer took the bull

by the horns and put over a wholesale swap with the Pittsburgh Pirates, which brought the spry veteran, Rabbit Maranville, to the Cub clubhouse.

"Looks as though I'm set at last," remarked Bill.

Spoke Too Soon

Everything went lovely, or thereabouts, until Maranville cracked his ankle during a spring workout, and the doctors broke the sad news to Killefer that Maranville would be on the bench

until June.

Killefer found himself faced with the same old worry.

Forced to act quickly, Killefer decided to give Clarke Pittenger, former Red Sox rookie, a chance.

Pittenger failed to make the grade and was sent to the coast.

Bill had Bob Barrett, utility man,

but Barrett had decided to cast

his lot in the outfield, and Killefer had agreed that he was better fitted for the outer defense than the inner line.

He had Ralph Michaels, ob-

stained from Little Rock, but Michaels lacked experience. Then came the chance to get Jimmy

McAuley, star shortstop of the Los Angeles "Angels" of the Pacific Coast league.

McAuley played in fifty-six games at second and ninety-one at short for the Angels last season. He led the league in fielding at second and ranked second at short. He hit .276.

That Killefer has improved his batting in the short space of time

the lad has been up is apparent in the batting averages. In one game against the Pirates Jimmy slapped out three hits in four times up. The three blows helped sink the Pirate crew.

So temporarily, at least, Kille-fer's shortfield problem seems solved. But he goes about his work with his fingers crossed.

He'd run two miles on a cinder road to prevent a black cat crossing his path. And the small hours of the night find him listening at the door of McAuley's room to be sure the lad is breathing properly.

Manager Flynn Wants Fight
With Walker Held In New York State

NEW YORK, June 26.—In a statement made public today, Leo P. Flynn, manager of Dave Shade, declared that he would demand that the proposed bout between Shade and Mickey Walker for the welterweight championship title be held in this state. Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, already has announced that he has signed with Jack Doyle, Los Angeles promoter, for the match to take place there on July 21, but Flynn said that he plans to go before the local commission today to demand a change of site to New York.

"I would like to have a voice in the arrangements for this bout even if it is only in the selection of the electrician," Flynn said. "I am not satisfied to let Shade box in California with a hand-picked referee officiating. I don't think the local commission will compel me to go west when I explain my side of the case."

He had Ralph Michaels, ob-

HENNESSEY WINS IN NET TOURNEY

Beats Gordon Lowe, Briton Court Star, In Three Hard Fought Sets

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 26.—John F. Hennessey of Indianapolis, took his place among the final eight of the all-comers' tennis singles today by defeating Gordon Lowe, England's base line king, in three closely fought sets 3-7, 3-6 and 6-4. The American still suffered from the effects of yesterday's cramps and Lowe lost no opportunity in attempting to make it an issue of stamina, standing in the back court and returning drives with monotonous regularity.

Hennessey, however, fought his hardest and was rewarded by showing the necessary punch, particularly in winning games that went to deuce and beyond.

Borotra Victor
Jean Borotra, known as the bounding Basque, also went into the round before the semi-finals. He defeated J. B. Gilbert, 6-1, 7-5 and 7-5.

Without troubling to remove her sweater, Suzanne Lenglen defeated Miss Goldschak, of England, in the women's singles, 6-1, 6-0. In the middle of the match, Suzanne snapped to a bystander: "I'm freezing." In spite of her apparent disquietude she won eight love games.

In the first round of the men's doubles "Chuck" Garland of Pittsburgh, teamed with Ross, defeated Preble and Lye 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Casey Eliminated
Ray Casey, the Pacific coast star, was put out of the tournament here today by Rene La Costa of France. Casey's defeat leaves Hennessey the only American survivor in the men's singles. The Frenchman won in straight sets, 8-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Casey's service was excellent but not sufficient to beat the French star. The Californian cracked badly in his final set. His net work was of high order, but he was very inaccurate on base line play.

SAM CRANE DEAD

NEW YORK, June 26.—Sam Crane, the greatest baseman of his day and later famous as a writer of baseball, died at his home in the Bronx today of pneumonia. He was 71 years old.

Crane began his baseball career with the Lowell, Mass., club in 1875. Later he went to Fall River as a second baseman, having previously played shortstop. Then he went to the big league. He wound up his career with the New York Giants in 1890. He leaves a widow and two sons, Stephen and Elmer. Stephen was his son by his first wife.

PIRATES MOVE UP

The Pirates moved up to within a single game of the Giants by taking another fall out of the Cardinals, 4 to 3. Dickerman passed two men with the bases full in the seventh.

PITCHERS' DUEL

Coveleskie and Pennock indulged in one of those rare old 1909 pitching exhibitions, the Senators winning from the Yanks 1 to 0 when Schang obliged with a passed ball in the second inning.

Afghanistan will have a new coin, named the "amania," in honor of Amanulla, the present Amir.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923
NEW YORK, June 26.—With more big league material to sell than any other minor league club operating this year, owners of the San Francisco team are beginning to wonder whether they will find any purchasers.

In recent years San Francisco has disposed of about a quarter of a million dollars' worth of players to the east, including the $100,000 Kamm and the $75,000 O'Connell; but within the last last year there has been a singular lack of demand for the team's players—players who could have been used to advantage this season by more than one major league outfit. They proved their worth by putting the team so far out in front in the Pacific Coast league race that it is no longer worthy of being called a race.

The San Francisco owners do not know whether they are being punished because they sided with President McCarthy of their league in his row with Commissioner Landis, or whether there is a tacit boycott on against them because the club insists on being paid full measure for any player it may have to put on the market.

Paul Waner, the heavy hitting Omaha kid, is the player on the team who probably will be in most demand—if there is any. He has been kept in San Francisco so long that he has become well seasoned, and he is ready now for the big show. He can bat the ball more handsily than any California player who has been on the market for some time. The club is likely to ask $100,000 for him, but it may come down.

There are two good pitchers on the San Francisco team who can be had for 1926 if some one will pay the price. One is Mitchell, who has been reported on both favorably and unfavorably by eastern scouts. The other is Williams, who is in his second year with the club, and about ready. Those who have watched Mitchell recently regard him as one of the best pitchers now in the game.

Then there is Rhyme, shortstop, who is hailed as the year's best infielder on the coast. Heretofore, the San Francisco club has asked more for him than any other club has been willing to pay. But he is better than four or five shortstops now playing in the majors. One objection to him is that he is not a heavy hitter, although he can both outfield and out hit Sand, who came east from the same league.

These four players are capable of holding their own in any company, and if all of them are not seen in the east next summer it will be strange indeed.

LIV—Improving Diet

There are some ways the Danish diet could be made more palatable for the great majority who have a taste for refined foods. Nuts can be substituted for part of the whole grain, and so may sweet fruits. Figs and milk. I have found very much like whole grains and milk. Juicy fruits and succulent vegetables, generally, are not very different in their effects from the greens.

Eggs and the general list of dairy products are also very good. But if we get too far afield we will be slipping back from the fundamental principles that saved these lives in Denmark. These principles will stand repetition again and again.

Most important is cutting out overeating and reducing obesity, whether it is accomplished by voluntary food limitations or by making food less attractive and requiring more mastication. This factor explains many of those death certificates that were not written in Copenhagen, certificates on which the doctor would have put the names of various diseases from which fat people die.

Here is a good breakfast to experiment with and will be found sufficient after a trial or two. One or two very ripe bananas and from four to six apricots well masticated.

I have used this diet on a one meal a day plan and was well nourished. One or two meals of raisins or an apple or orange can be eaten with bananas and a glass of milk.

A meal can be made of any one fruit, but must be well masticated. Tomorrow—Questions and Answers

JIM BARNES WINS OPEN GOLF TITLE

Takes British Crown When Macdonald Smith Blows Up In Last Round

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 26.—The British open golf championship again goes to the United States. Jim Barnes, the lanky New York professional, today won the title with an aggregate score of 300 strokes for 72 holes over the fast, tricky Prestwick course. He succeeds to the title now held by another American, Walter Hagen, who won last year with 301 and who did not defend his crown at Prestwick.

Barnes won because Macdonald Smith, another of the invading Americans "cracked" badly in the fourth round. Smith led the field at the end of the second and third rounds and had the title almost within his grasp when he "blew."

Average of 75
Barnes scores were 70-77-79-74, for an average of 75. Arthur Compston of Manchester and Ted Ray, both British professionals, were tied at 301 at the end of the first round. Smith took 32 for his last round, as against his previous rounds of 76, 69 and 76, making his aggregate 303. The manner in which Smith "blew" his chances in the final round, was little short of

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
NEW YORK, June 26.—While west coast fans may have formed ideas that Jimmy McLarnin is a better boy with the gloves than Fidel La Barba, eastern fighting men who have seen both lads in action say they cannot account for McLarnin shading La Barba in their bouts only on the ground that Jimmy has the Indian sign on his rival.

La Barba as most know, was the former national and Olympic national champion. Ring sharps here think that if both of them meet Pancho Villa, Fidel is likely to make the better showing.

But, unless Villa has gone back a great way, it is thought that La Barba's better showing will be a comparative; this is to say, that neither of the two coast youngsters is expected to do much with the slam-bang almond-eyed wallower.

Neither McLarnin nor Fidel has met the class or type of boy resembling the flyweight champion and the wise guys in this vicinity think it is foolhardy on the part of their respective managers to hurry them in against the Filipino.

Villa has showed once on the coast in a four-rounder against George Lee. Although he won the distance was too short for him to show much it being known that Pancho the punisher is best over a longer route. The showing he made may have had a great deal to do with his being booked to meet McLarnin and why a La Barba bout is talked of.

Still after almost six months' sojourn on his island home for twenty-three days on shipboard Villa turned up in Frisco in splendid physical condition.

In fact the diminutive Asiatic kept up such strenuous exercise while at home and subjected himself to such a stiff course of daily workouts coming over on the boat that his manager, Frank Churchill, ordered him to take things easy for several days before starting training for McLarnin who by the way, fights at 122 pounds. This should dispose of reports that Villa led a life of ease and indulgence while he was at home.

The Villa-McLarnin bout will take place on July 4 before Tommy Simpson's club in Oakland. Pancho's manager writes that he is going to fill his meal ticket's life full of fights and that he will scrap his way from the coast eastward, arriving here, it is expected in the very pink of condition.

BASEBALL

With a slim crowd of fans present, Vernon took another kicking from the Portland Ducks at Washington park, homers by Lafayette and Lewis giving them a 3 to 2 win. ## SPORT CHATTER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, June 26.—Although the matter has been kept a profound secret for reasons not altogether clear, it developed today that Ty Cobb is either the highest paid man in all baseball or runs the individual high man a very neighborly second. Cobb, it seems, has a higher salary than George H. Ruth, Rogers Hornsby and Judge Landis, notwithstanding. On the very best authority, he is said to be paid $50,000 a season for managing and playing central field for the Detroit ball club.

Just why they saw fit to whisper about the thing after three years is not for the writer's inadequate comprehension. The Yanks megaphoned Ruth's contract the largest in baseball and caught the vagrant eye thereby. Of course they didn't want the publicity. It merely was forced upon them.

It had another effect, however, according to the writer's informant. It got Cobb his present salary.

"This fellow Ruth gets $52,000," Cobb is said to have told Frank H. Navin before he took over the Tigers. "Do you consider me the better player. You do? Alright, then pay the better player for playing ball and managing the club at the same time."

Mr. Navin did.

Cobb's salary is only exceeded, on paper at least, by John McGraw's. John also owns his financial rating to the Ruth ballyhoo. At that time the Giants and Yanks were engaged in a local war for patronage and publicity was as sugar in their coffee.

Deciding to go the Yanks one better, the Giants voted McGraw a yearly salary of $75,000 as manager and vice-president of the club, or said they did.

It was just a lot of malarkey. As one of the principal stockholders in the Giants, McGraw could name his own salary and take it out of the net profits.

As a result, McGraw, Cobb and Ruth are subject to the decries of a man whom they outdraw in salary. Judge Landis gets $50,000 a year as lord high executioner of baseball.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
NEW YORK, June 26.—When Alabama's baseball nine came through to a southern conference championship, Wallace Wade, the coach, made a record at Tuscaloosa. He is the first Alabama coach to produce a double championship, it being recalled that his football eleven won the conference title last fall.

While Alabama always has had fine baseball teams, Wade's 1924 eleven was the first to come through with a title. His reputation as a football mentor should gain added lustre next fall, since he has splendid material with which to work, including a backfield which seems likely to stand among the best backfields in the land.

Wade's success has been his sincerity, his ambition and his thorough knowledge of technique, both in baseball and football. Then, too, he has that quality which causes his men to adore him and to carry out his orders to the letter.

While Wade was associate football coach at Vanderbilt the Commodores never lost a football game in two years' time, a record never before enjoyed at Vanderbilt.

Since going to Alabama his teams have been runners-up once and once a winner in the southern conference. Centre and Florida are the only two southern elevens that have beaten Alabama in Wade's administration.

Wade learned his football at Brown university, where he played a sterling game at tackle. Throughout the south he is respected both for his character and his attainments.

Speaking of the south, golfing enthusiasts down there believe that in Miss Marion Turpie of New Orleans, an 18-year-old lass, who was born in St. Andrews, Scotland, Dixie has another Alexa Stirling. Mrs. Davis Caut and Mrs. Elain Rhinehart say that she is the best golfing prospect they have ever seen.

FANS DIVIDED ON RUTH'S CONDITION

Some Think He Will Be Out Of Game For Good, But Others Say Not

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, June 26.—

Alarmists today were pleased to view with apprehension the fact that the New York Yankees have been forced to shunt Mr. Ruth into a siding and proceed along the right-of-way without him. Some viewed the thing as a temporary measure of a week's duration. Others—of the volunteer pallbearer type—went so far as to see the end of Ruth's career as a ball player.

All were agreed on one point, to wit: That the Yanks are responsible for Ruth's present condition by bringing him back to the game before he had recovered his health. The ball club was floundering, the turnstiles proved a silence as austere and decorous as a public library. Something had to be done, and Ruth did it.

They sent him into right field one fine day with the thermometer around 100, and kept him there through one of the most torrid spells of recent years. A few days before, the writer saw Ruth puffing like a mountain climber from five minutes of batting practice.

Ankles Are Swollen
Yet the first day out they even sent him into the plate to slide on a torso not altogether healed from the incision of a surgeon's scalpel. It is not at all remarkable that the young man is getting a back-fire from the situation today. A less enthusiastic soul would have turned up his toes long since.

The source of Ruth's present trouble is disquieting at that. He has badly swollen ankles, and it is an axiom of baseball that a good ball player goes first through his legs. There are men who will hit .300 as long as they can hold a bat, but ultimately they pass out because they can't stand the wear and tear on their legs and feet.

The alarmists have seized upon this fact as the first signs of Ruth's decadence. Personally, the writer thinks they may be a bit premature.

The HOUSE of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Hanaud shook his head. "Not so mad, my friend! The old rules are the best. Hide a thing in some out-of-the-way corner, and it will surely be found. Put it to lie carelessly under every one's nose and no one will see it at all. No, no! This was cleverly done. Who could have foreseen that instead of looking on at our search you were going to plump yourself down in a chair and write your memorandum so valuable on Mademoiselle Ann's notepaper? And even then you did not notice your pen. Why should you?"

Jim, however, was not satisfied. "It is a fortnight since Mrs. Harlowe was murdered, if she was murdered," he cried. "What I don't understand is why the arrow wasn't destroyed altogether!"

"But until this morning there was never any question of the arrow," Hanaud returned. "It was a curiosity, an item in a collection—why should one trouble to destroy it? But this morning the arrow becomes a dangerous thing to possess. So it must be hidden away in a hurry. For there is not much time. An hour while you and I admired Mont Blanc from the top of the Terrace Tower."

"And while Betty was out of the house," Jim added quickly. "Yes—that is true," said Hanaud. "I had not thought of it. You can add that point, Monsieur Frohisher, to the reasons which put Mademoiselle Harlowe out of our considerations. Yes."

He sat lost in thought for a little while and speaking now and then a phrase rather to himself than to his companion: "To run up here—to cut the arrow down—to round off the end as well as one can in a hurry—to stain it with some varnish—to mix it with the other pens in the tray. Not so bad!" He nodded his head in appreciation of the trick.

"But nevertheless things begin to look black for that exquisite Mademoiselle Ann with her delicate color and her pretty ways."

A noise of the shifting of furniture in the bedroom next door attracted his attention. He removed the nib from the arrow-head.

"We will keep this little matter to ourselves just for the moment," he said quickly, and he wrapped the improvised penholder in a sheet of the notepaper. "Just you and I shall know of it. No one else. This is my case, not Girardot's. We will not inflict a great deal of pain and trouble until we are sure."

"I agree," said Jim eagerly. "That's right, I am sure."

Hanaud tucked the arrow-head carefully away in his pocket. "This, too," he said, and he took up Jim Frohisher's memorandum. "It is not a good thing to carry about, and perhaps lose. I will put it away at the prefecture with the other little things I have collected."

He put the memorandum into his letter-case and got up from his chair. "The rest of the arrow-shaft will be somewhere in this room, no doubt, and quite easy to see. But we shall not have time to look for it, and, after all, we have the important part of it."

He turned towards the mantelshelf, where some cards of invitation were stuck in the frame of the mirror, just as the door was opened and the commissaire with his secretary came out from the bedroom.

"The necklace is not in that room," said Monsieur Girardot in a voice of finality.

"Nor is it here," Hanaud replied with an unblinking assurance. "Let us go downstairs."

Jim was utterly staggered. This room had not been searched for the necklace at all. First the sedan chair, then this sitting-room was neglected. Hanaud actually led the way out to the stairs without so much as a glance behind him. No wonder that in Paris he had styled himself and his brethren the Servants of Chance.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
HANAUD LAUGHS

At the bottom of the stairs Hanaud thanked the commissaire of police for his assistance.

"As for the necklace, we shall of course search the baggage of every one in the house," he said. "Any word we shall find of that we may be sure. For if the necklace has been stolen, too much time has passed since it was stolen for us to hope to find it here."

He bowed Girardot with much respect out of the house, while Monsieur Bex took Jim Frohisher a little aside.

"I have been thinking that Mademoiselle Ann should have some legal help," he said. "Now both you and I are attached to the affairs of Mademoiselle Harlowe. And—it is a little difficult to put it delicately—it may be that the interests of those two young ladies are not identical. It would not, therefore, be at all correct for me, at all events, to offer her my services. But I can recommend a very good lawyer in Dijon, a friend of mine. You see, it may be important."

"It may be, indeed. Will you give me your friend's address?" he said.

While he was writing the address down Hanaud startled him by breaking unexpectedly into a loud laugh. The curious thing was that there was nothing whatever to account for it. Hanaud was standing by himself between them and the front door. In the courtyard outside there was no one within view. Within the hall Jim and Monsieur Bex were talking very seriously in a low voice. Hanaud was laughing at the empty air and his laughter betokened a very strong sense of relief.

"That I should have lived all these years and never noticed that before," he cried aloud in a sort of amazement that there could be anything capable of notice which he, Hanaud, had not noticed.

"What is it?" asked Jim. But Hanaud did not answer at all. He dashed back through the hall past Frohisher and his companion, vanished into the treasure room, closed the door behind him and actually locked it.

Monsieur Bex jerked his chin high in the air.

"He is an eccentric, that one. He would not do for Dijon."

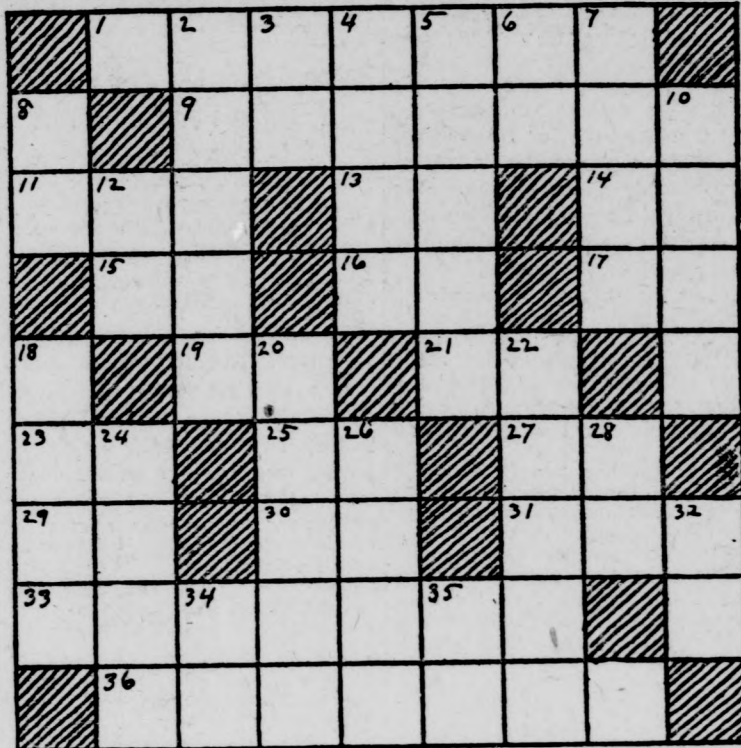

Jim was for defending Hanaud. "He must act. That is true," he replied. "Whatever he does and however keenly he does it, he sees a row of footlights in front of him."

"There are men like that," Monsieur Bex agreed. Like all Frenchmen, he was easy in his mind if he could place a man in a category.

"But he is doing something which is quite important," Jim continued, swelling a little with pride. He felt that he had been quite fifteen minutes in the bullring. "He is searching for something somewhere. I told him about it. He had overlooked it altogether. I reproached him this morning with his reluctance

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

to take suggestions from people only too anxious to help him. But I did him obviously some injustice. He is quite willing."

Monsieur Bex was impressed and a little envious.

"I must think of some suggestions to make to Hanaud," he said. "Yes, yes! Was there not once a pearl necklace in England which was dropped in a match-box into the gutter when the pursuit became too hot? I have read of it. I am sure. I must tell Hanaud that he should spend a day or two picking up the match-boxes in the gutters. He may be very likely to come across that necklace of Madame Harlowe's. Yes, certainly."

Monsieur Bex was considerably elated by the bright idea which had come to him. He felt that he was again upon a level with his English colleague. He saw Hanaud pouncing his way along the streets of Dijon and explaining to all who questioned him: "This is the idea of Monsieur Bex, the notary. You know, Monsieur Bex, of the Place Etienne Dolet." Until somewhere near—but Monsieur Bex had not actually located the particular gutter in which Hanaud should discover the match-box with the priceless beads, when the library door opened and Betty came out into the hall.

She looked at the two men in surprise.

"And Monsieur Hanaud?" she asked. "I didn't see him go."

"He is in your treasure room," said Jim.

"Oh!" Betty exclaimed in a voice which showed her interest. "He has gone back there!"

She walked quickly to the door and tried the handle.

"Locked!" she cried with a little start of surprise. She spoke without turning round. "He has locked himself in! Why?"

UNCLE WIGGILY CUTS THE GRASS

"Uncle Wiggily," called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny gentleman one morning, "your new wife wants to see you."

"Ah, yes, thank you for telling me, Nurse Jane," answered Mr. Longears, who was twinkling his pink nose before hopping out to look for an adventure. "I suppose some of the many little rabbit boys and girls who came to me with my new wife are in trouble," sighed the bunny gentleman, "and she wants me to help them out."

"No, it isn't that," laughed Nurse Jane. "All the bunny boys and girls are in school. They don't mind going now, for it is the last day before the long vacation. Your wife wants to see you before she goes."

"No, it isn't that," laughed Nurse Jane. "All the bunny boys and girls are in school. They don't mind going now, for it is the last day before the long vacation. Your wife wants to see you before she goes."

"Perhaps she wants to see me twinkling my pink nose," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, for he was a bit proud of the way he could do this. Not too proud, you understand, but just proud enough.

However, Mrs. Longears didn't want anything like that. As soon as the bunny gentleman hopped to her his new wife said:

"Oh, Wiggily, my dear, if you will cut the grass I'll make a pudding."

"Do you mean we are to have a sort of race, to see whether you can make a pudding before I cut the grass?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No," answered his wife. "For I can't make a pudding until you cut the grass. You see the grass on the front lawn is very long and needs cutting. And in the grass there are many clover leaves. I will pick these clover leaves out of the grass after you cut it and make a clover pudding."

"Oh, jump for joy!" sang Uncle Wiggily, for he was very fond of clover pudding with maple sugar trimmings. So he hopped to the shed where the lawn cutting machine was kept, while Mrs. Longears went to the kitchen to get ready to make the pudding.

Now when Uncle Wiggily hopped out on his lawn to cut the grass, the Bob Cat, sitting on a hill back in the woods, looked down and saw the rabbit gentleman in front of the hollow stump bungalow.

"Hi, there, Mr. Wolf!" called the Bob Cat to the other bad chap. "If you want Uncle Wiggily, now is your chance to catch him. He is hopping around on his lawn."

"Good!" yowled the Wolf. "I'll go down and nibble his ears," but pretty soon, when the wolf ran back to where the Bob Cat sat on his silly little tail, the Bob Cat said:

"Why didn't you bring me back a few ear nibbles?"

"Ear nibbles?" howled the Wolf. "Say, you fooled me! Uncle Wiggily wasn't down there at all. I went up to his lawn, but all I saw was a lot of green grass growing tall!"

"Silly!" laughed the Bob Cat. "Uncle Wiggily was in that grass. It was so tall you couldn't even see him, for he was hidden down in it. But he is going to cut the grass—I heard his new wife tell him to. Come, Mr. Fox!" called the Bob Cat to the other bad chap. "You go down and catch that rabbit and bring me back one of his ears to nibble. By the time you get there he will have cut the grass short so you can easily see him." So the Fox went down the hill.

But pretty soon he came back, and he didn't have any ear nibbles and he looked cross and unhappy. "What's the matter?" asked the Bob Cat.

"Everything is the matter!" growled the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily wasn't down there at all. When I got to his bungalow it was raining green rain, like St. Patrick's Day, so I came back. There was no rabbit at all—at all—worra, worra!"

"Silly!" howled the Bob Cat, trying to catch his foolish little tail. "That which you thought was green rain was the grass flying in the air as Uncle Wiggily cut it with the lawn mower. He must have been making it go very fast, so it looked like a green shower."

"Maybe it was," eagerly cried the Bob Cat, "I'll go back and get him!"

"It's too late now!" snarled the Bob Cat, looking down the hill. "He has the grass cut and he's gone in his bungalow. You can't get him."

And that's just how it happened. First the grass was so long it hid the bunny from the Wolf. Then the rabbit cut it so fast that it looked like green rain and fooled the Fox. And that night Mrs. Longears made a fine clover pudding and all was well. And if the dusting brush will jump over the broomstick to bring a smile to the face of the old c, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's picnic.

NEW YORK CLOSING

NEW YORK, June 26.—Important price gains were marked up today in many of the active industrial stocks, with a score or more of the best-known stocks going into new high price levels for the year.

The motor stocks continued to dominate the speculative market, with manufacturers of trucks receiving the most attention and manufacturers of motor accessories scoring important gains. But other departments of the market were by no means neglected. Independent steel, tobacco, mercantile, copper and some of the specialty stocks making sizable gains on active trading, and public utilities receiving favorable attention.

Stock exchange trading was a little more active than in the last two days, though the volume of business was below the average of the month to date. Bullish pools in the motor stocks and specialties refused to give ground and bearish traders attempting to cover found little stock available except at slightly higher prices. The day's record of dividends was not as favorable as yesterday's, and money market conditions were unchanged. French and Italian exchanges dipped to lower quotations as a result of unsettled financial conditions in continental Europe. Finance Minister Caillaux's finance bill calling for an increase of 6,000,000 francs in French circulation being unfavorably received in most markets. There was also a strong forward movement in cotton, with prices up $2 a bale.

Outside of the motor stocks, the principal price rallies took place in the tobacco stocks, the mercantile shares and the high-priced industrials. United Cigar Stores, the most prominent of the Whelan stocks, rose to 93, the highest price on record for the stock on its present capitalization. Tobacco Products, Philip Morris and Reynolds were active and strong.

Most of the rail stocks were inactive. Rubber and tire stocks were strong on announcement of a 33-1-3 per cent increase in tub prices by the General Tire & Rubber Co., and anticipated advances in prices of casings. United States Rubber advanced nearly a point on active trading; Fisk and Kelly-Springfield were fractionally higher. Timken led the accessory stocks with an advance to 42.

Woolworth sold into new high ground at 141, for a gain of nearly 5 points; American Can and Baldwin advanced in good maintenance of its lead at the head of the industrial list. Call money ruled at 4 1/2 per cent.

The market was active and buoyant in the last hour. General Motors sold above $3 for a gain of 2 1/4 points on active trading. American Can rushed up 5 points, to 190 1/2.

Sale Friday, 1,223,600 shares; bonds, $10,140,000.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, June 26.—Call money on the floor of the New York stock exchange today ruled at 4 1/2 per cent; high, 5 per cent; low, 4 1/2 per cent. ## FACTS ON CHINA TOLD KIWANIS

Arthur C. Terrill Speaks At Club Meeting, Tells Of Nation's Resources

Chinese citizens excel the rest of the world in acting, costuming, cooking, art, philosophy, memory, language, salesmanship, agriculture and ability to adapt oneself to conditions. Arthur C. Terrill told members of the Glendale Kiwanis club today. Mr. Terrill recently returned from China, where he was professor in mining at one of the leading universities.

Although the country is called a republic, he said, there are no elections, nothing but open bribery. The country is poor, he said, because the officials are corrupt. China has been over-advertised as to its mineral resources, he said, and quoted facts and figures showing the amount of mineral in the country. The meeting was held at the Tuesday Afternoon club-house. Rev. C. A. Cole presided.

Allan Fairchild and George Lyons played a piano duet. The lecture, composed of E. P. Hayward, George Lyons, Allan Fairchild, Elwood Ingledue, Glen Dolberg, John D. Fraser, William Horn and William Bode, sang a solo. The attendance prize, donated by W. C. Winkler, was won by Frank Echols. Visiting Kiwanians present today were Arthur Heche of Alameda, and William B. Cook of Wichita, Kansas.

Officials Warn Of Dangers From Fire

of Glendale disclosed that great quantities of long grass, brought forth by late spring rains, has been dried to a crisp by the hot winds that have swept through the valleys and canyons during the past two or three days, constituting one of the worst fire menaces ever experienced here. More small brush fires have been reported within two weeks than for any previous season up until this time, Hayselden said.

United States weather forecasts issued to the Protective association are that the highly humid atmosphere which has prevailed for three days can be expected to continue for several days longer at least. The low humidity adds to the fire hazard, Hayselden said.

Conditions are such in many parts of the Verdugo hills that fire is liable to start at any time, even without the aid of human carelessness," Hayselden declared, in urging that general interest be taken in reorganization and perfection of the local fire-fighting unit Tuesday night.

County work in the Verdugo hills section, includes the establishment of telephonic connections between all vantage points and with down-town Glendale and Los Angeles.

A special warning to residents of the foothill sections was issued by the county men who declared that burning brush or rubbish out of hours or in a careless manner will bring stiff prosecution under the new state act. They declared that the greatest difficulty in past years has been to enforce the bonfire ruling among residents of the foothills.

REPORT ON COLLEGES

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The war department today announced that as a result of the annual inspections of military colleges and schools in the United States that thirty-four institutions have been designated as "distinguished colleges" and twenty-three as "honorary military schools."

Merchants' Banquet Is Complete Success

ley F. Bell, Lyman P. Clark, W. P. Potter and W. C. Winkler. Tells About Credits

The speaker of the evening, A. J. Van De Water, general manager of the Retail Merchants' Credit association of Los Angeles, was introduced by Chairman Kimlin as "the biggest man in the country on merchants' credits."

Van De Water spoke for fifteen minutes on "Credits." A few excerpts from his address are given here:

"The nation is built on short-term credits. We are now setting the stage on the Pacific coast for one of the grandest dramas ever known. In the memory of men now living, authorities say, the densest population in the country will be at Los Angeles."

"Such phenomenal growth as this section has been experiencing is bound to have periods of rest. It is an error to call them periods of depression because growth here has never stopped and never will stop. We are now preparing for bigger things."

Mutual Confidence

"Not 5 per cent of the nation's business could be handled on cash," Credit makes turnover possible and turnover is what makes business.

"Scientific credit must be understood by merchants to win quickest success."

"Do not engage in competitive credit. That is a sign of individual panic. Adhere to thirty days' credit and keep your city stable."

"The per cent of recovery for the cities of the United States averages 40. Here it is 55 per cent."

"Mutual confidence and help among merchants is the basis of American business today."

"The National Credit Men's association, after an exhaustive study, has gone on record condemning the direct inquiry as detrimental to the merchant. No customer will tell you of any bad reference."

"Your manager, Mr. Fernie, is an able credit man and our association has belief in him."

"A merchant can accomplish in twenty years, by following recognized credit methods, what it will take him forty years to win with sloshy methods."

"The country is now entering what is nationally known as the year of western men, by western men and for western men."

Presents Office Staff

Following this talk Manager Fernie was introduced and spoke briefly. He added his word to that of Van De Water in advising merchants against sending out personal letters of inquiry. He then called on the members of the association office staff to stand and presented them. They were Mrs. R. W. Hendershot, Miss Sabina Berg, Miss Alice Jernegan, Miss Dorothy Chauvin and Mr. Hendershot.

Several songs in Spanish were given by a recent discovery of KNX, Miss Nieto, who was accompanied by Carrie Preston Rittmeister, director of KNX programs. Hearty applause was paid the soloist.

A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, introduced by Kimlin as "the best city clerk in the country," responded with some impersonations that delighted the diners. Bill Hatch at the piano and Will Kellogg on the violin, members of the Hatch orchestra from KFWB, pleased with a selection which was followed by an orchestra number by the Hatch players.

Glenn R. Dolberg, introduced by Kimlin as the "champion baritone of Southern California," as proven by recent contests," sang

PRICE OF TIRES TAKES BIG JUMP

English Capitalists Control Raw Rubber Market And Advance Follows

"Tire prices are on the advance, and from the present outlook, one can expect them to soar to almost unheard of levels," said Leo Rabbin, head of the Valley Tire Co., San Fernando and Los Feliz roads. "We have already had an advance of almost 25 per cent and expect another shortly. The first, which came on May 1, was followed by another this month, and although we have been able to keep the retail price down to the old figures, it will be impossible for us to continue longer than our 'Waiting' and 'Friend of Mine.'"

"The reason for the rise is entirely legitimate from the manufacturer's standpoint, anyway, as crude rubber, which a few months ago was selling at 14 cents a pound is now up to 72 cents and is getting higher right along."

"The manipulation of the rubber market in England accounts for this situation. The English capitalists who control the rubber markets of the world have specified that only a limited amount of it is to be gathered and shipped."

"Our credit plan, together with the low prices that we are maintaining, has made our business for the last few weeks exceptionally good. The quality of Brunswick tires and the year's service bond that goes with every tire sold, has made for us many friends and customers since we opened for business in Glendale a few months ago."
